

Addendum 2 to the Product Development Collaboration Agreement Between Ex Libris, IGeLU and ELUNA

This addendum 2 amends to the agreement that formalizes principles of collaboration between Ex Libris, the International Group of Ex Libris Users (IGeLU) and Ex Libris Users of North America (ELUNA) on development and enhancement of Ex Libris Products.

The addendum describes the additional product Leganto that will become part of the Product Development Collaboration Agreement starting 2018.

All the governing principles, general responsibilities, commitments and collaborative efforts described in the agreement apply also to this addendum.

The addendum specifically records the agreement between Ex Libris, ELUNA and IGeLU on the Software Enhancement Process for the product Leganto as described in paragraph 1.1 in the overall Product Development Collaboration Agreement.

Leganto will be added to the products listed under 10 in the paragraph and Ex Libris guarantees a minimum amount of 40 development points per annum for the product, starting calendar year 2018 with 30 development points, then 40 development points every year thereafter.

This addendum is signed May 3 2018 in Spokane and agreed by:
